Does the name of a datatype follow the same rules as that of a variable?